

A LIST OF DISASTERS

Made Larger by the Burning of the Lantern Globe Works.

BELLAIRES DISCOURAGING FATE

As to the Glass Industry Does Not Dant the Spirit of Her People. Particulars of the Serious Fire There Early Yesterday Morning. Another Factory May be Temporarily Leased.

The destruction of the Bellaire Lantern Globe Works by fire early yesterday morning was the subject of comment there all day yesterday, as the experience of that city in that line is a doleful story. Three glass factories have been totally destroyed within ten months, and twice that many, when the old Bellaire stamping works fire is considered, have succumbed to flames within two years, and there followed in the train of these even more disastrous results. It was through the fire that destroyed part of the stamping works that the bonus funds got started in hot pursuit after that company and finally took it away. In other instances the destruction of the factory was the deciding point with companies that were deliberating how to proceed and not lose money, and when the factory burned they decided to wind up business. Some of these results might come at best, but fire and its consequences have done more to take away industries from the Glass City than all the other causes combined, until now there is but one factory left in active operation, and it is operating the works deserted by the old Etna Glass Company, the Bellaire Bottle Company having leased the plant. Roder Bros. are building a magnificent plant to take the place of the one burned for them last winter, and will be in operation this fall. But this one and the new stamping works that is to take the place of the old Belmont glass works are the only ones left.

It is cheerful, in view of the foregoing facts, to notice the faith of Bellaire people in the future prosperity of the city. They organized with their own capital the new stamping company, and lent substantial encouragement to Roder Bros., and are still ready to give legitimate encouragement to other new industries.

The lantern globe works fire started in the packing room in the basement of the brick portion of the works. How, nobody knows, but the flames spread along the floor in the basement in such a way that it did not seem like much of a fire until a full view of it could be had, and when it burst through the lower floor it was a work of very few minutes until the entire factory was in ruins. The fire department was powerless to do more than save adjoining buildings and other property, as the heat was intense. The books and papers in the safe were all saved, and most of the office furniture. The total loss was $30,000 to $35,000, on which there was $28,000 insurance, $21,500 with the Husbands & Inskeep agency, $5,000 with Cowen & Co., and $1,500 with Roeder & Son. The factory employed about 100 hands and was run full ten months every year. The average pay roll per month was close to $5,000.

The firm will endeavor to get hold of the factory at Washington, Pa., if it can be operated fairly well to keep their trade supplied with globes, as their business was just at its height and very pressing when the disaster came. Whether the plant will be rebuilt or not can not now be definitely told. Mr. Bergundthal, who with ex-Sheriff Foulke, are practically the owners of the plant, is president of the board of trade and has been interested and instrumental in keeping up the courage of Bellaire people, may be induced to rebuild, but that matter will be determined later.

For substantial paying investments Moundsville offers advantages second to none.

CALLIN'S NEW DIRECTORY.

The Handsomest and Most Creditable Book he ever issued.

The new directory of Wheeling is now ready for delivery. It is a most complete work throughout, and a careful examination of its pages will convince anyone of the immense amount of careful work its production must necessarily have involved. The delivery is a little later than Mr. Callin had anticipated, but as it is more than anticipated, correct, and makes such a favorable showing for the city, and its general style and make up are altogether so decidedly ahead of all previous productions, it will be hard to find a subscriber who will not make ample allowance for the short delay.

The book contains 544 pages, neatly printed on eighty pound book paper, and is handsomely bound in red English cloth with gold title and sides embossed in black. In addition to the regular alphabetical list of names and complete classified business lists, it embraces every item of importance pertaining to the city, while in fact everything about the book from beginning to end shows an amount of careful, conscientious, painstaking work that is certainly very commendable, to say the least. In fact, Mr. Callin deserves great credit for the effort he has always made to show up the city to the very best advantage, for ever since he has published the directory of Wheeling he has always gotten out a class of work that has given entire satisfaction, and this book eclipses all of his former efforts.

This is the eighth biennial issue. It contains 17,000 names, about 750 more than any former book. This indicates, at the lowest estimate, a population of 41,000.

Invest in Moundsville lots and realize handsome profits. Safe and sure investment. Property steadily increasing in value. Works employing a thousand work-people in operation and contracted for. Population bound to double in a short time.

"Tar and Tartar."

The "Tar and Tartar," relates the adventures of Miley Hassan, who was cast up by the sea, became sultan with four hundred fair creatures as wives, was pursued, haunted and hunted down by a mermaid wife, and who altogether had more experience in the course of one life-time than a Chicago drummer. Fred Fear takes the part. He makes it funny all through. The expression of his face when he learns that he has 1,313 babies left over from the last administration, is alone worth the price of admission. Matilde Cotterly is the mermaid wife. The scene of her meeting with her husband in the second act is one of the cleverest things in the piece. Annie Myers is a round faced, nimble footed little woman who sings cleverly. William Pruette takes the part of the Bedouin chief, and sings it better than it was ever heard before. Myra Mirella, who takes the part of a professional beauty, has a pretty face and a sweet voice. Seats go on sale to-day.

MARTIN'S FERRY AWAKE.

Her Club Organization Going Ahead With Enthusiasm.

That the Republicans of Martin's Ferry are wide awake and interested in the success of protection, reciprocity and honest money was clearly demonstrated at the meeting of the Republican club in Commercial Hall on Monday night.

The meeting was of a preliminary nature, being only the second one and was a rousing one. Many persons present were surprised at the large attendance and the meeting was very enthusiastic.

Many active Republicans were present, including ironworkers, glassworkers, masons, miners, laborers, manufacturers, business men and professional men. The number of young men there was quite large.

The different committees reported and a uniform was adopted for the marching club.

Over fifty names were enrolled as members of the marching club, most of whom agreed to pay the full price of uniforms, and twelve or fifteen Republicans who do not expect to march on all occasions volunteered to buy uniforms for those who desire to march and do not care to pay for them. Among those who signed their names to the roll of the marching club are business men and professional men and workmen who have not marched for many years.

The committee on uniforms was instructed to order seventy-five uniforms at once. This was done yesterday morning by telegraph, and it is expected that the complete uniforms will arrive in time for the Poorman meeting next Saturday night.

The uniform adopted is a splendid one and it is said to be the best manufactured for the price. It consists of a Harrison hat, military cloak, with cape, both made of white enameled cloth trimmed with gold, and the buttons gilt. The members will also wear white gloves and badges and carry canes, these being included in the outfit. The military cloak resembles a mackintosh. The badge is made of American tin and red, white and blue ribbon, with picture of Harrison and Reid on the latter. On the plate portion of the badge appears the inscription: "Protection, Reciprocity, American Tin, 1892." This is surmounted by the American eagle.

The club will probably have a boys' drum corps and drum major, all uniformed.

The Republican marching club of Martin's Ferry held a meeting last night and elected the following officers: Captain, Elmer Moore; first lieutenant, Howard Hopkins; second lieutenant, R. C. Montgomery; color bearer, Henry Dwyer. A committee was appointed to provide a drum corps. Another committee was appointed to invite the Republican clubs of Wheeling, Bridgeport and surrounding towns to participate in a parade and meeting next Saturday night, to be addressed by Col. C. L. Poorman.

One hundred dwellings will be needed before January 1, for the large number of persons who will remove to Moundsville.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

News Notes and Personal from Our Near Neighbor.

It begins to look as if Colonel C. L. Poorman would have a big meeting next Saturday night. The meeting will be held at Commercial hall. The Republican marching club, just organized, will turn out seventy-five strong if the uniforms arrive in time, and word has been received from the Poorman marching club, of Glenn's run, that it will come in force, with its excellent drum corps, and all wearing uniforms. Colonel Poorman is one of the best speakers in the United States, and deserves a large crowd. This will be the opening of the campaign by the Republicans.

The Poorman Marching club, of Glenn's Run, has received their uniforms, consisting of red and white cap, white coats and torch. The drum corps, numbering nine members, will wear the above cap and coat with a lamp on the cap. The uniform is very pretty and is a credit to the organization. Mr. William S. Elleritz makes an excellent captain. The club was out in its uniforms for the first time on Monday night, and attracted much attention. The uniforms were admired by all who saw them. The boys expect to attend all of the big meetings in this neighborhood.

Yesterday a fine large bunting flag arrived from the School Supply Company, of Chicago, Ill., for the Central school. The flag measures 14 by 7½ feet and cost only $10. This amount was raised by the pupils of the Central school by voluntary contributions ranging from one to five cents.

Rev. G. P. Macklin, a prohibition orator of considerable fame, addressed a meeting at Commercial hall last night. Yesterday morning a five-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Lindemuth had its hand badly burned.

John Hoyle, of Winona, Ohio, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Williams, on Third street.

Joel Hobensack, esq., who was badly hurt a few days ago, is getting along fairly well.

Hildebrand Bros. are canning 600 cases of tomatoes of twenty-five cans to the case.

The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is not accidental but is the result of careful study and experiment by educated pharmacists.
